Dear Mr. McAbee:

I will soon end my job at Citadel Cement Corporation. Before I leave, I want to express my compliments to you for the quality of people in your company.

I have worked with your people for over two years and I can honestly say it has been a rewarding experience. During this time I have not had a single disagreeable word with any of your people. No matter how unpleasant the job, your men always willingly tackle it and quickly complete it.

It may be wrong to give one person all of the credit for this attitude, but if one person could be singled out it would be James Snipes. I have the highest regard for James and feel he is truly an asset to your company.

As I said earlier, I have enjoyed working with McAbee and, hopefully, some time in the future I will have the pleasure of working with you again.

Sincerely yours,
